LANDSLIDE FOR HARDING; SMITH IS LEADING MILLER

HARDING CARRIES N. Y. BY 1,025,000

With Possible Exception of Contest for Governorship, Republicans Make Sweep of the State

WALKER SNOWED UNDER

Partial Returns Give Wadsworth 535,571, Walker 302,584—Harding Wins in East By Unprecedented Pluralities

LATEST BULLETIN, 4 A. M.

Returns from more New York city districts put Governor Smith in the lead by a plurality of 8,925 over Miller. The vote in 6,095 out of 7,386 districts in the state gave: Smith, 1,133,978; Miller, 1,125,053.

The New York city vote in 2,550 out of 2,733 districts, was: Smith, 661,630; Miller, 358,533. Returns were still missing, however, from 831 districts upstate, where Miller has maintained an average plurality of 53 votes in each district over Smith.

New York, Nov. 2.—At 11:15 o'clock tonight, eastern time, with the west and middle west still scarcely heard from, the Harding landslide in the east was continuing with gathering momentum.

At the rate the Harding column was growing at that hour, the Republican plurality in the state of New York was around the unprecedented figures of more than a million. New York city, normally Democratic, was going for Harding by at least half a million.

The governorship fight continued close, with Republican managers claiming the defeat of Governor Smith.

Pennsylvania returns at that hour showed Harding the greatest plurality ever given a Presidential candidate in that state.

Boston has gone for a Republican to the second time in its history and has given Harding a greater lead over Cox than it gave McKinley over Bryan in 1896.

Returns from half of Vermont gave Harding a 3 to 1 lead over Cox. Hughes beat Wilson 2 to 1 there in 1916.

In the home district of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, Harding beat Cox 2 to 1. Maine reported Harding leading Cox by the largest plurality ever given to a Presidential candidate. Ohio, one-fifth complete, showed a growing vote for Harding.

Wadsworth Still Leading

Harding carried two wards in the city of Atlanta, Ga., and two parishes in the Louisiana sugar belt, both Democratic territory.

In the senatorial race, Senator Wadsworth was leading his democratic opponent, Lieutenant Governor Walker. Senators Brandegee of Connecticut and Moses of New Hampshire, opponents of the League of Nations, both seemed certain of re-election.

The late closing of polls in the western states, the difference in time, long waits and a greatly increased vote are the causes of the late returns from the west.

The following statement was issued by Democratic Chairman White:

"The abandonment by some of the most prominent Republican leaders of the very League of Nations which they helped to construct has been successful. The people have succumbed to the confusion wrought by these distinguished men and to the misrepresentations of those who would not and did not understand the League of Nations. I hope it may yet be rescued from the political morass and be saved to mankind."

"No one has any occasion for bitterness or of recrimination. What the people decide the whole people must accept. The Democratic national committee abides by the result, especially, if forebodingly. Senator Harding is the people's president."

Smith Leads in Late Returns

Late returns from 5,586 districts out of 12,303 in the state give Harding 1,140,934; Cox, 648,445. If this rate is maintained in the missing districts, Senator Harding will carry the state by the unprecedented plurality of 1,492,000 over Governor Cox.

The largest popular vote previously received by a presidential candidate in New York state was 870,670, which Mr. Taft polled in 1908. The previous night's celebration, for New York always found plurality was made in 1886, celebrates, whoever the winner and when McKinley led Bryan by 258,225, "whoever the loser."

Governor Smith was leading Nathan L. Miller, Republican gubernatorial nominee, by 6,257 votes when returns from nearly two-thirds of the state had been tabulated. The vote in 4,728 districts for Smith, 906,935; Miller,

In the returns already tabulated, swept along by a furious wind that Miller has maintained an average plurality of 53 in each election district upstate, while Governor Smith has an average plurality in New York city. Park Row, at 11:45 o'clock, saw the districts, already counted. If these latter of the New York World buildings are maintained, Miller will come into New York city with a plurality of 53, the signal that the news, long had conceded the election of his rival

About the same time, the New York Sun, which has championed the Republican banner, and which claimed a landslide for Senator Harding, admitted that Governor Smith of New York Democrat, probably had been re-elected.

At midnight at Republican headquarters, the leaders stated Mr. Miller would beat Governor Smith by 15,000. "The Republican candidate," they said, "will come to the Bronx with a majority of 375,000. We concede Governor Smith a 300,000 majority in Greater New York city."

Wadsworth Easily Victorious

United States senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., who was bitterly opposed by organized women suffragists and "dry" leaders because of his vote against suffrage and against the prohibition amendment, was leading his Democratic opponent, Lieutenant Governor Harry C. Walker, by 22,991 votes. Returns from 2,514 districts out of 7,363 in the state gave Walker 392,584, Wadsworth 535,571.

Republicans also gained three seats in the congressional fight in New York state, electing their candidates in the fifth, eighth and ninth districts, which are now represented by Democrats. Virtually complete returns from 34 out of 43 congressional districts indicate the election of 22 Republicans and 12 Democrats.

The Republicans also increased their majorities in the state senate and the state assembly, gaining five seats in the upper body and two in the lower house in the vote already tabulated.

Returns from 45 senatorial districts show the election of 34 Republicans and 11 Democrats, with six districts missing. This gives the Republicans the necessary two-thirds majority to pass bills over the governor's veto, if Governor Smith should be re-elected.

Returns from 110 assembly districts showed the election of 90 Republicans, 18 Democrats and two Socialists, with 10 districts still missing.

Samuel A. DeWitt and Samuel Orr, socialist assemblymen, who were expelled by the legislature last winter, and then reelected this fall, after they had been re-elected in a special election, and who subsequently resigned, were again elected from the third and fourth Bronx assembly districts.

Election Celebration in New York

New York, Nov. 2.—With tooting horns and the crackle of rattles, New York city poured out into the streets late today for its time honored election. The largest popular vote previously received by a presidential candidate in New York state was 870,670, which Mr. Taft polled in 1908. The previous night's celebration, for New York always

G. O. P. CLAIMS GAIN OF EIGHT SEATS IN SENATE

Washington, Nov. 2.—A net Republican gain of eight and possibly ten seats in the senate was claimed late tonight by the Republican senatorial committee on the basis of "early reports" from senatorial fights.

Victories were claimed in South Dakota, Idaho, Maryland, California, Nevada, Oklahoma, Arizona and Colorado.

WILSON RETIRES EARLY AFTER HEARING ELECTION RETURNS

Washington, Nov. 2.—After receiving the early election returns in his study, President Wilson retired to his bedroom at 9 o'clock tonight and was asleep half an hour afterward.

Rear Admiral Grayson, the President's personal physician, spent nearly half an hour with Mr. Wilson after the latter retired, discussing the results of the election.

Dr. Grayson said the President showed no indication of nervous strain and that he seemed cheerful. He added that the President had no comment to make on the result of the contest.

Mrs. Wilson's mother and sister were guests at the White House for dinner. After the meal the President went to his study, where the early returns were delivered to him by messenger from the executive offices as rapidly as they were received over special wires from the various Democratic headquarters.

FIRST PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

Salt Lake City, Nov. 2.—For the first time in the history of Utah, a presidential candidate, Parley P. Christensen of Salt Lake, running on the Farmer-Labor ticket, cast his ballot late today. Closing his campaign with an address here last night, Mr. H. H. Christensen said that Mr. Christensen spent the day at home here with his aged mother, who is blind.

Mr. H. H. Christensen, who will enter politics in the fall, is the first presidential candidate ever to be elected over Governor Cox.

400,000 PLURALITY IN MASSACHUSETTS

Early Returns Show 50,000 Plurality for Harding, and This Is Rapidly Increased

New York, Nov. 2.—A message received tonight by Will H. Hayes, chairman of the Republican National committee, at the party's headquarters here, stated that early returns in Boston forecast a Republican plurality of 50,000 in the presidential race.

Mr. Hayes' informant was Grafton Cushing, prominent Republican of the Massachusetts metropolis.

Boston has not been carried by a Republican national ticket since 1896, according to party leaders here. President Wilson carried the city by approximately 14,000 in the last presidential contest.

United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge wired former Senator John W. Weeks predicting a "great Republican" victory in Massachusetts. Two nominally Democratic congressional districts were assured to the Republicans Senator Lodge declared, while the Democrats were given not more than two out of 16 congressional districts.

Mr. Weeks received a message from Governor Coolidge predicting that the Republican plurality outside the city of Boston would be not less than 40,000. The city itself, Governor Coolidge said, would give the Republican ticket a lead of 13,000 to 14,000.

Later Mr. Weeks predicted that Senator Harding would carry New York state by 750,000 and would have a majority of 250,000 in greater New York city.

PRINCETON FOR HARDING

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 2.—President Wilson's home district in Princeton went for Harding and Coolidge over the Farmer-Labor ticket, casting his vote late today. Closing his campaign with an address here last night, Mr. H. H. Christensen said that Mr. Christensen spent the day at home here with his aged mother, who is blind.

Mr. H. H. Christensen, who will enter politics in the fall, is the first presidential candidate ever to be elected over Governor Cox.

NEXT PRESIDENT IN PRAYERFUL MOOD

Instead of Being Exultant Over Result, Is "More Given to Prayer to Make Me Capable of Playing My Part"

COX IS EMOTIONLESS

Declines to Make Any Comment, But His Newspaper Admits "Harding Landslide"—Senator and Mrs. Harding to Leave on Vacation

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Convinced by early returns of his election to the Presidency, Warren G. Harding issued a statement tonight saying that instead of being exultant over the result, he was "more given to prayer to God to make me capable of playing my part."

Receiving election returns at his home here, Senator Harding declined during the early evening to make any comment and issued his statement only after the figures had piled up majorities for him, which his advisors declared made his election certain.

At the same time, it became known that Senator and Mrs. Harding had made plans for a vacation trip, to be carried out regardless of the result of the election, taking them for a rest next week in Texas and after that, for an ocean voyage to the Panama canal zone. They will return to Marion during early December.

SENATOR HARDING'S STATEMENT

The senator's statement follows: "Assuming that the early returns are wholly dependable, I do not hesitate to say that I am pleased; of course, I am happy to utter my gratitude. But I am not exultant. It is not a personal victory. It is a renewed expression of confident Americanism in a national call to the Republican party."

"It is also serious, the obligations are so solemn that instead of exulting I am more given to prayer to God to make me capable of playing my part, and that all these calls to responsibility may meet the aspirations and expectations of America and the world. I am sure the people who have voted the Republican ticket will understand my feelings that I should make no unstudied statement of policy at this time, beyond the expressions made throughout the campaign."

Coincidentally with the senator's statement, Harry M. Daugherty, a member of the Republican campaign committee, made this statement here:

"GREATEST VICTORY" IN POLITICS

"It is the greatest victory in American politics, clearly foreshadowed and predicted. It is more than a partisan victory, as the result was contributed to by millions of Democrats. The women of the nation have quickly vindicated the conferring of the suffrage privilege, as they sensed correctly the issues and rallied to the cause of America and American institutions. The Republican party is fully conscious of the great responsibilities implied in this popular verdict and will faithfully keep its obligations and will faithfully keep its obligations."

The senator's trip to Texas will begin Friday night or Saturday morning, and Mr. Harding will arrive at Point Isabel, Texas, near Brownsville, next Monday. He plans to spend about 12 days there, and then leave for Panama by way of New Orleans.

His stay in the canal zone will last about a week, during which he will make a first-hand study of local conditions and particularly of the toll system for American ships. He has advocated throughout the campaign a repeal of these tolls, and it is expected he will collect information on that policy.

TO REMAIN AT MARION

Leaving Colton about December 1, he will land at New Orleans and will travel by train to Bedford, Va., where he speaks December 5th at an Elks' celebration. Afterwards, he is to return to Marion, to remain under present plans, most of the time until March 1st. He may take a trip during this interim, however, to some of the western states.

"I don't know of any call," he said, faltering as tears rolled down his cheeks, "that has aroused my emotions more than this. I have worked with you and I have tried to be honest with you; and God knows if I am called to responsibility, I am going to be honest with everybody in the world. I don't know if I can meet these responsibilities, but God knows I can meet them with the same honesty that I have treated you."

"I am just a plain, ordinary fellow, but I can be on the square and that is all there is to it."

GIVE HARDING GOLD RULE

Employes on Marion Star, His Newspaper, Honor Their Chief When Good News Is Revealed.

Marion, O., Nov. 2.—While the senator was at dinner late in the evening, a committee of the employes of the Marion Star, his newspaper, called to present him with a gold printer's memento rule. He came out on the front porch and with his voice choking with emotion, thanked them for their devotion.

"I don't know of any call," he said, faltering as tears rolled down his cheeks, "that has aroused my emotions more than this. I have worked with you and I have tried to be honest with you; and God knows if I am called to responsibility, I am going to be honest with everybody in the world. I don't know if I can meet these responsibilities, but God knows I can meet them with the same honesty that I have treated you."

"I am just a plain, ordinary fellow, but I can be on the square and that is all there is to it."

NOT HURT BY WOMEN'S VOTE

Chicago, Nov. 2.—The Socialist party has not been weakened by the American women's votes, except in a few isolated instances," said Otto Braestrup, national secretary of the Socialist party, in a statement to the Associated Press tonight. "Early returns indicate a heavy increase in the Socialist vote."

Braestrup sent the following telegram to Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for president at Atlanta tonight:

"Early returns indicate votes up to expectations. Debs ahead of Cox in many cases. Early scattered returns indicate votes of 2,500,000 to 3,000,000."

GOTHAM CELEBRATES WITH BIG RACKET

Campaign Headquarters Thronged With Party Leaders—“Looks Like Miller,” Says Glynn

New York Nov. 2.—New York city showed that it was celebrating the election tonight chiefly by the racket that it made. All day long street urchins made carnival and every once in a while someone got hurt in the play, and then an uprising fight ensued, several times requiring summoning of police reserves.

Broadway, on which every New York celebration is staged, was the center of the merrymaking. Theatres reported record crowds, and the 18th amendment notwithstanding, cabarets and restaurants were jammed. Along the East Side and in Socialist districts, crowds gathered to receive election returns, raised mighty shout when figures flashed showed that Eugene V. Debs, Socialist Presidential nominee, was sharing in the distribution of votes.

Campaign Headquarters Thronged.

Republican and Democratic national headquarters, astir all day, were thronged in the evening with party leaders anxiously watching compilation of figures the country over. Throughout the night, George White, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, issued statements expressing satisfaction with returns, while at rival headquarters, Republicans were predicting the greatest landslide for Senator Harding the country has ever given a candidate.

With Nathan L. Miller, Republican gubernatorial nominee, his home town of Syracuse, Governor Alfred E. Smith appeared early this evening at his headquarters in this city, and there watched the run of the ballots.

Dudley Field Malone, candidate for governor on the Farmer-Labor ticket, received returns at his headquarters in the city the tabulation along with that of the other candidates for governor.

Governor Smith Silent. Governor Smith, at his headquarters here tonight, refrained from making election claims "until 11 o'clock." He said the voting machines up-state were slowing down the tabulation of results so that no adequate information would be available before that hour.

George Glynn, chairman of the Republican state committee, in a statement issued at his headquarters here, said shortly after 9 o'clock that "it looks like Miller." He said Miller would carry all districts outside Greater New York by an average of 75 votes a polling place, making a total majority for Miller of about 343,000 exclusive of this city.

Glynn said Senator Wadsworth would be re-elected by a 500,000 majority. Senator Harding would carry the state by 600,000 majority outside New York city, Glynn said, while claiming also that the Republican presidential candidate would carry Greater New York.

WARREN HARDING'S GREATEST BIRTHDAY

Surrounded by Members of Family, He Quietly Receives Tribute of Millions

Marion, Nov. 2.—Warren Gamaliel Harding tonight had the greatest birthday party of his life.

Surrounded by members of his family and a circle of neighbors and personal friends, he received quietly at his home here the tribute of the millions who had voted to present him on his fifty-fifth anniversary with the presidency of the United States.

The smile of confidence he had worn for weeks broadened as he read the early returns and began to receive a flood of congratulatory messages hailing him as president-elect. He deferred any formal comment, however, till the result should have been established beyond all doubt.

During the day, he outwardly had concerned himself very little with the pending national decision. With Mr. Harding, he voted during the morning and then rode off to 40 miles to ride a horse and a game of golf at the club, near Columbus. He returned in the early evening, a figure flushed by the raw fall air and his game in excellent shape, the tramp over the miles good for him.

The returns came in. The Associated Press were called to the senator in his home during the evening from the special wired wire which had been installed. He snatched the press service and a car to call a newsman with an exultation of fit best.

Throughout the night, Marion, Mrs. Harding was a figure of quiet during the events over the headquarters. She had learned, however, that with the election of Mr. Harding, two of her sons, Miss Abigail Harding and Mrs. Caroline Votaw, also were in the family car, and many friends from about town dropped in during the evening to pay their respects and call on the Hardings. Outside in the street a crowd gathered early, cheering the news of election returns as it filtered out to them.

Harry M. Daugherty of Columbia, who was the senator's pre-conviction manager, was one of those who reviewed the election figures here.

Reports for Work at Customary Time

Next Morning.

Indestructible Joe Glass of Diamondville, Wyo., reported for work at 6:30 a.m., eight hours after his automobile leaped 50 feet from the road between Kemmerer and Diamondville, and was dashed to pieces on rocks. Persons who heard the crash found Glass unconscious beside the demolished machine. He quickly regained consciousness, inspected himself for serious injuries, found none, completed his homeward journey on foot, and at the customary time was "on the job."

Appeal That All Understand.
The variety of languages is one of the marvels and mysteries, yet beyond the grammar and the etymology there is forever a fundamental fact—that men are brothers in the blood, bound to help and to serve one another in time of need. Hunger, thirst, sickness and weakness speak for themselves. We can tell when our brother has need of our aid, through his appeal is mute, or inarticulate, or in an outlandish tongue.—Exchange.

Nutritive Value of Tomatoes.
The nutritive value of tomatoes is slight. But because they contain valuable mineral salts and acids, added to their delightful flavor, tomatoes have become very popular as an article of food. Tomatoes are composed of nearly 95 per cent water, leaving very little solid food to contain the elements that give the greatest nutrition, such as proteins, carbohydrates and fats.

"Tower of the Winds."
This is the water clock erected at Athens, Greece, in the second or first century before Christ. It is octagonal in plan, 42 feet high and 26 feet in diameter. STATE CHAIRMAN EXPRESS OPTIMISM

Smith's Victory "Almost Certain," Says White—Glynn Reports

Miller Gain

New York, Nov. 2.—George White, chairman of the Democratic national committee, early tonight issued a statement asserting that "every return from up-state confirms our contention that satisfaction with the progress of the Governor has been elected." He added that "the Governor is running dangerously close to Judge Miller outside of New York city, and here we know he will get a big majority."

Early returns are most satisfactory," said Mr. White. "The Democratic districts heard from show party majorities, as do the Republican districts."

It seems almost certain that Governor Smith has been re-elected. First blood for the Democrats."

Party leaders assembled at Democratic national headquarters early tonight to receive election returns. New York headquarters were linked by special telegraph wires with headquarters in Ohio, Chicago and through San Francisco, to receive various reports and exchange messages between party lieutenants.

A leased telephone wire also kept Mr. White in communication with Governor Cox at Dayton, while another leased wire ran to Hyde Park, N. Y., where Franklin D. Roosevelt had assembled neighbors at his home to watch the turn of the political battle.

On the basis of early returns, George A. Glynn, chairman of the Republican state committee, predicted that Manhattan would be carried by Harding with a plurality of not less than 50,000. Buffalo, he said, would be carried by at least 30,000 and Syracuse by 15,000.

Lafayette B. Gleason, secretary of the state committee, said that the same returns from Buffalo indicated that Governor Smith is making a better race in that Republican section of the state than his opponent anticipated. He added that Miller, Republican candidate for governor, would carry every borough of Greater New York.

The report, however, stated that the Governor ran slightly behind Mr. Miller in the latter election district, for which these figures were given: Harding, 275; Cox, 170.

Miller, 273; Smith, 221.

Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany hall, issued a statement asserting that "every return from up-state confirms our contention that satisfaction with the progress of the Governor has been elected." He added that "the Governor is running dangerously close to Judge Miller outside of New York city, and here we know he will get a big majority."

Chairman White, at 8 o'clock, issued the following statement:

"Our direct returns from Kentucky, Idaho and West Virginia are such that we will carry those three states by safe majorities. Thus the first of these Republican pre-election claims are demolished."

The following statement was issued by Mr. White at 8:30:

"In 1916 the people had a lesson in Republican tactics of claiming everything in an effort to influence the west. Therefore the same plan will not work this year. We have every reason to predict that Governor Cox will be elected by the states beyond the Allegheny mountains."

THE NEW REGIME.

The result of the election yesterday, so far as the national ticket is concerned, had for a long time been foreshadowed. Harding, in a majority of electoral votes large enough definitely to manifest the public faith in him, will be the next President, and Coolidge, his running mate on the ticket, will if the President-elect fulfills his earlier declaration be something more in administrative affairs than a president of the senate and a waiter for possible Presidential shoes.

The campaign appears on the surface of it to have had many issues, yet, in fact, there was one so overshadowing as to dwarf and obscure all the others. This was the "League of Nations." The covenant of this League, which was brought over to us, was in the evident belief of President Wilson as nearly perfect as it could be—so perfect that it was not permissible either to cross a "t" or to dot an "i." To this document, not the mere substance of it, but to its actual words and finest shades of meaning, he stood pledged, and to it he pledged his party and so far as possible his country. His countrymen, however, saw in the treaty, which was by evident mistake interwoven with the constitution of the League, tendencies of which they did not approve. They did not favor a combination which would in case of differences between the militant nations of the Old World, compel the entry of the United States into the war, with the further spilling of American blood in Europe or Asia. They did not favor, moreover, a document which carried to its extremity, might have abrogated the policies of the Monroe doctrine; they did not favor "entangling alliances."

Whatever else may have been said by Republicans in the heat of the campaign, as to delay in entering the war, as to wastefulness and inefficiency, as to the tariff and as to financial matters and the two last constitutional amendments, the League of Nations was in that party the vital thing. That its acceptance should be accompanied by reservations was the upstanding feature of the platform, and, with a wealth of extraneous argumentative matter which might have been omitted, that was the thing to which in the end the party orbats all came. On the Democratic side, there was on the part of the candidate no definite stand on this issue, or at least there does not appear to have been. In the beginning he was evidently in favor of such reservations as did not touch the spirit or essence of the document. Later and after an interview with the President, the untempered League was again apparently made the basic principle of the campaign; and in the final days this stand seems to have been weakened.

The whole campaign, it may be said, comes to this. Whether they would or not, the Democratic leaders were bound by a sense of loyalty to the defense of the policy of the President, even when it was evident that from any reasonable standpoint, or at least any workable one, they were not desirable. To this, no matter how often the party leaders tried to get away, they were brought back by frequent Presidential utterances. The end was disaster, and it is probable few thinking members of the party believed that anything else was possible. And for such disaster, despite the conceded honesty of his convictions, it must be conceded that President Wilson is responsible, since he was neither able to accept the conclusion of others or to enter into negotiations with a spirit of compromise.

For West Oneonta Postmaster.

The United States Civil Service commission announces an examination for the position of postmaster at West Oneonta, to be held on Saturday, November 21, at the post-office building in Oneonta. The office paid a salary of $554 for the last fiscal year. Applications for the position must be 21 years of age, citizens of the United States and residents of the territory, for which the examination is held. Application blanks can be obtained of the postmaster at the place of vacancy or on application to the United States Civil Service commission, Washington, D. C.

Early the past month a similar examination was advertised for the filling of this contemplated vacancy, but there were no takers, and no examination was held.

The Electoral College.

Argosy of the reference in yesterday's Star to the fact that in 1884 Hon. Elbert H. B. of Oneonta was an elector, according to latest figures are that presidential electors, it is noted that John D. Clarke, Republican, for member of congress, will carry his home—In 1884—S. C. Chapman, for U. S. senator, by 1,000. Otsego county by 4,000. Chenango by 6,000 and Broome by 8,000. He having a majority in the city of Binghamton of 3,500.

No Meeting of Common Council.

There having been no quorum of the board of aldermen present at the council chambers last evening, no meeting was held. Later in the week, there will be a special session of the council.

CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN.

M. C. Hemstreet Will Be County Director in Place of L. P. Butts.

—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Oneonta County Tuberculosis committee, held Monday at the Citizens' National bank, Marcus C. Hemstreet was named as county director of the County Red Seal campaign in place of L. P. Butts, who was named as director at the recent county meeting at Cooperstown, but who asked to be relieved on account of not being able to devote sufficient time to the work.

—Christmas seal money is the only means of financing preventative tuberculosis work. This work is planned in Oneonta county by Miss Nina V. Short, executive secretary of the County Tuberculosis committee.

The quota for Oneonta county for the Christmas seal campaign is $6,000, rated at 12½ cents per capita.

—Every effort will be made to raise this amount. Local chairmen are being named to direct a campaign to secure this amount.

RESULT IN CITY AND COUNTY

Entire Republican Ticket Elected—Good Showing for Favorite Sons—Clarke Carries City by Substantial Majority—Mrs. Boole Draws Many Votes for Wadsworth.

The Result in Oneonta.

In this city, where the largest vote in its history was cast yesterday, the vote for president was 1,429 for Cox and 2,065 for Harding, a plurality of 1,236. Smith received 1,474 votes to 2,257 for Miller, a lead of 783 for the latter. Wadsworth had 1,609 votes and Walker, D., had 1,171, two districts missing, while Mrs. Boole's vote doubtless drew largely from the former.

In the whole city there were 38 votes cast for the Socialist Debs for president, 51 for Watkins, Pro; 2 for W. W. Cox, Socialist; Labor, and 11 for Christensen, Farmer-Labor.

With four districts missing, Oneonta gave 279 majority for Whitney for sheriff and 141 for Fox for county clerk.

Though the weather yesterday was by no means favorable for election, and in mid-afternoon became rainy, the total vote cast was the largest in county history, and moreover showed that women scarcely less than men were interested in the local and general outcome. The figures from all parts of the county, which herewith are reproduced show that this lively interest was not confined to the city, but was felt in the smaller and more remote townships. The normal large Republican majority was generally in evidence, and the returns show that the entire county ticket was elected by good majorities, though in some cases, notably that of sheriff and clerk, the local popularity of the Democratic candidates, Messrs. Whitney and Fox, of Oneonta, ran them well ahead of the ticket.

It will be noted also that the vote for Wadsworth fell considerably below that of other state candidates. This was partly at least attributable to the vote cast for Mrs. Boole, Prohibition candidate, who office on her prohibition and partly on her suffrage record drew away a part of the Wadsworth vote. For governor, there is no doubt that the increased Oneonta vote for Smith over that for the other state Democratic nominees is largely attributable to railroad men who believed that his course as chief executive had been friendly to them.

As a matter of record, it may be noted that the total vote in the county was 13,884, in 1918, which was the last gubernatorial year. Comparisons with more remote elections would not be of value, since 1918 was the first year in which women voted.

While not all the local returns had been received up to the hour of going to press, the figures are complete enough to show the election of all the Republican county officers. As above noted, the two Democratic candidates from this city made a good showing at home, but their city vote was not enough to offset the vote elsewhere in the county. Both, however, have reason to congratulate themselves on the vote which they received in a city naturally strongly Republican.

The third Oneonta candidate, Dr. Julian C. Smith, showed also his standing as a favorite son. He received much more than a party vote in every district, and it is not improbable that his course as chief executive had been friendly to them.

The re-elected candidates receive majorities which in themselves are evidence of the general satisfaction which their work has given, and in the new terms to which they will succeed they will have the congratulations of their constituents.

Halloween Dance.

There were about 75 couples at the Halloween dance which was given by E. L. Ward of the Oneonta hotel Monday night. A delicious dinner was served at 9 o'clock, with an entertainment furnished by Mr. Logan, who gave a number of vocal solos and violin selections. Following the dinner those in attendance enjoyed dancing until midnight. The music for the occasion was furnished by Canning's orchestra. Prizes for the best dancers were to be given out during the evening, but the judges stated that they were unable to decide the best ones and decided to give numbers to each couple. The numbers were called during the dance with those holding the number leaving the floor. The last two couples on the floor received the prizes. It has been asked that the names of the prize winners be not mentioned. The dining room was decorated for the occasion with fall leaves and Halloween favors of black, yellow and white. The tables were tastefully decorated with pumpkins and lighted candles, which added greatly to the appearance. The dance was considered one of the best of the season and was greatly enjoyed by all who were present.

THREE TOWNSHIP MEETINGS

Introducing Programs Scheduled for Last Three Days of Present Week—Officers Elected.

Three township meetings will be held by the Oneonta Improvement association this week. For the town of Butternut, the meeting will be held in Gilbertsville, Thursday evening the 4th. The principal speaker will be Allen J. Bloomfield who has served the county in the assembly for 1,176. Smith received 1,474 votes to 2,257 for Miller, a lead of 783 for the latter. Wadsworth had 1,609 votes and Walker, D., had 1,171, two districts missing, while Mrs. Boole's vote doubtless drew largely from the former.

The members and friends of the association at four of the meetings were privileged to see three reels of motion pictures prepared by the Conservation commission and shown by B. H. Paul, state forester. These pictures showed the various steps in reforestation, methods of fire protection and wild animals which live in the woods of New York state.

In his remarks, the manager states that the directors had instructed him to promote to organization of a forestry company which will acquire land for a forest nursery, abandoned lands to be planted to trees and to do the work of contracting foresters. He also stated that the association would put $5,000 in Junior Extension next year and would work with the Chamber of Commerce of Oneonta in the conduct of a merchants' conference in January. Other projects upon which the association will work were also discussed.

WANTS HIS MONEY'S WORTH.

Arthur Hammerstein, producer of "Always You," which is coming with Irene Franklin and Ralph Herz to the Oneonta theatre on Friday evening, November 5, thinks that the modern chorus girl who earns $50 to $75 a week, in place of the $18 and $20 of a few seasons ago, is too valuable a property to be used simply as a background.

In his new "Always You," Mr. Hammerstein claims he has discovered a method of making the sixty-a-week girls earn their money. Other managers will watch his work with considerable avidity.

"In the old days we didn't demand too much of a chorus girl," explains Hammerstein. "If she could sing a little, dance a little, and didn't hurt your eyes to look at her go by. But now when they earn as much as you used to pay a good actor, why, they had just better be a combination of Helen of Troy and Adelina Patti to make me hire 'em."

Hammerstein's collection of Helens and Pattis on view with "Always You" is a treat for ailing eyes.

HOME SURROUNDINGS CONTEST

State College invites photographs of Rural Exteriors and Interiors. Perhaps your farm house, with its surroundings, is one of the most attractive in New York State. If it is, the State College at Ithaca would like to know about it. In order to learn of these pleasant country homes, the college has started a friendly competition to which any resident of the state is eligible to enter.

For this competition, photographic views of home interiors, exteriors and grounds are to be submitted. These photographs must be mounted as prescribed and must be sent to the college at Ithaca before January 15.

The entire collection will be judged by a committee selected from the college of architecture, the department of landscape art, and the school of home economics, at Cornell University. If the competition proves successful, the winning photographs and all others that have constructive interest will be exhibited in the home economics building during next farmers' week. The results of the competition will also be announced, and the winning pictures printed in leaflet form for distribution to the competitors.

Permanent Collection Is Aim.

No prizes are offered as awards. The best four pictures in each of the three groups named below will be given winning places. If the contributors are willing, the college would like to retain the winning pictures and any others that are thought to have an educational value, as part of a permanent collection. The others will be returned to the contributors. The three groups are interiors, exteriors, garden and grounds.

Any good photograph of any portion of one's home will be acceptable, provided the picture is properly mounted and of a size that conforms to the conditions.

No more than three photographs may be submitted by any one person. One or two well-selected and well-mounted pictures are preferable to a quantity of poor ones. The main requirement is that the subject shown shall make a pleasing picture. No home is too simple or too modest for reproduction, provided it has individual charm, it is announced.

Full details of the contest may be obtained by addressing the division of housing and design of the college at Ithaca.

A Rat That Didn't Smell After Being Dead for 3 Months.

"I swear it was dead at least 3 months," said James Sykes, Butcher, Westfield, N. J. "We saw this rat every day. Put a cake of RAT-SNAP behind a barrel. Months later my wife asked about the rat. Remembered the barrel, looked behind it. There was the rat—dead, not the slightest odor." Three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Hudson's Pharmacy, Miller Strong Drug Co., Slade's Drug Store, C. R. Marsh, Everybody's Drug Store.

Mrs. N. McHendry and sister, Miss Elizabeth Boxen, of New York, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. C. C. Marshall, Myrtle Avenue, returned yesterday to their home. They were accompanied to Albany by Mr. and Mrs. Marshall who returned last evening.

Youthful Smokers in Court

Four boys between 12 and 14 years of age were brought into city court yesterday on charges of juvenile delinquency, they having been observed on several occasions to be puffing away at cigar stubs. Although it is believed that most cigar stores of the city are observing the law forbidding the selling of tobacco to boys under 16 years of age, it is well to call their attention to it again. The boys said they did not get the cigarettes from cigar stores but picked them up on the street. After being reprimanded for their conduct, the boys were let go.

GREATEST PRIVATE LIBRARY.

Henry E. Huntington's Priceless Collection Now Housed Near Los Angeles.

The magazine section of the New York World of Oct. 24th devotes a page to a description of the magnificent library which Henry E. Huntington, a native of Oneonta and the donor of Huntington Park and Library to this city, is moving from his New York City residence to his estate near Los Angeles, Calif., the story being accompanied by an excellent photograph of Mr. Huntington.

The two opening paragraphs of the World's interesting and fascinating story are as follows:

In a quiet house on East 50th street, New York, there used to be what is called the greatest private collection of books in the world. It was a treasure house whose cultural and financial value staggered the imagination. Now this great collection of books is being moved from New York city to the Pacific coast. This mecca of the student, scholar and bibliophile will soon be opened to the public in Los Angeles.

Ten years ago the library of Henry Edwards Huntington was scarcely known among bibliophiles; now in the halls about him, on the dim shelves are the precious volumes of what has become one of the world's most distinguished libraries; priceless in monetary value, rich in book memories and the gaudy personalities of poets, historians and statesmen of the past. One book alone was obtained at the then record price of $50,000; another recently, for $15,000; sales of duplicates and discarded rarities have netted probably more than $569,000. It has been and is a stupendous proposition. England, France, Germany, have yielded to the growing richness of this American collection.

Mr. Huntington has also been a wide collector of paintings, and it is understood that his art collections, too, will be made available to the public. In a white stucco building, Italian design among the live oaks of his San Marino estate, near Los Angeles, these great collections are being housed. The building, designed by Myron Hunt, a Southern California architect, has a 210 foot frontage, is absolutely fireproof, has room for the housing of 299,000 volumes, and is known as the Henry E. Huntington Library and Art gallery. One of the impressive rooms of the structure will be the great founder's room, with its huge fireplace and its massively beamed ceiling. Here the great organization that was built up in New York city to study, catalogue and care for the library is now working; for much of the credit of selection and vision must be given to the excellent men Mr. Huntington has picked to aid him in his work, among them, the eminent bibliophile and librarian, George Watson Cole. No one of the greatest libraries in the world is equal to America and California, but best to New York city.

UNION BANKERS ON STRIKE.
New York, Nov. 1.—Leaders of union bankers who went on strike in Brooklyn last Friday, demanding a flat weekly increase of $6, reported tonight that nearly all shop owners had acceded to the demand and orders less than 300 workers were idle. More than 300 of 365 shop's signs are up, they added. The strike started between 1000 and 1100 workers.

HEN HATCHES ALLIGATOR

Icists on Sitting on Eggs Until She Sees First Result
A hen owned by Dr. W. E. Willis of Corpus Christi, Tex., is suffering from something akin to nervous prostration, according to the physician. Doctor Willis found a nest filled with alligator eggs while on hunting expedition recently. He brought six of the eggs home with him.

A sedate hen in the doctor's farmyard was determined to set, and although the sun would have broiled the alligator eggs, Doctor Willis decided to humor the fowl and put the eggs under her. Paddy waited for only one egg to hatch, according to the doctor, and then left the nest on a dead run, cackling wildly.

OCCUPATION FOR THE BORED

To Those Who Find Time Hanging
Heavy on Their Hands Writer
Recommends Washing Dog

Those who find the days tedious may discover a diverting hour in the lack perch sport of washing the dog.
After an hour of this, persons who have been bored to extinction have been known to feel real pleasure in just sitting still for two whole days with hands folded and eyes closed—and even.

The hard part is to catch the animal. Some say that Jolly instinct of Mother Nature has given dumb beasts seems to inform 'em that all is not well. He who usually leaps forward with wagging tail at a friendly lift of the eyebrow will at this important moment regard his owner with a reproachful look that is quite beyond description. You have to see the dog, and try to catch the hound, in order to appreciate it. Some favor the seductive smile and the velvet voce as the best means of coaxing the creature to draw near. Personally, I favor the ever-ready appeal to the stomach. Dogs may be long on sustenance, but they are never so emotionally inclined as when in full sight of a piece of juicy meat.

We will assume that you have caught him, however, and have started to drag him toward his doom. Here it is that one notices for the first time the strange relation of the canine species to the mule family.
If your dog has long ears, you will detect no difference whatever. Some dog fanciers declare that even the hounds brayish, a fact for which the author cannot vouch.

When the hound has at last been dragged to the edge of the tub or bath, the best advised move is to tickle him around the waist and jump in with him. You'll get drenched anyhow, so what does it matter? The real sport begins at this point, and usually continues until friend dog playfully swirls his soap tail in your eye. Authorities agree that this is the best time to caputinate. You may not have succeeded in washing him, but, by thunder, you have showed him who's master here, and that's something, anyhow.

Besides, when the family gathers about and asks you if the hound actually got a bath, no one will dare dispute your word for it that the operation was signally successful. In spite of all evidence to the contrary —and I say evidence advisedly—all will agree that Rover is clean as a whistle. Otherwise someone might have to try it again.—Boston Herald.

Embarassing.
I am fond of dogs, and one day while out walking I saw a little dog, thin and forlorn looking. I picked it up, intending to take it home and feed it. Just then a young man stepped up to me and said: "Pardon me, madam, but won't you please give me my dog?"

PROFITEERING IN
TURKISH CAPITAL

Greeks and Armenians Enjoy Great Commercial Prosperity.

MIXED RACES ARE EXPLOITED

Every Nationality Has to Have Its Own Churches, Its Own Schools, Orphanages and Hospitals—Even the Small Children of Various National-ties Cannot Be Put Together Without Serious Friction—Hotel Rates

High.

Foreigners, or so-called foreigners, are enjoying great commercial prosperity in Turkish cities, especially in Constantinople. Turkish officials have been easily corrupted. Business men who were not too scrupulous in their methods have found Turkey a profitable field.

In spite of all the propaganda which has been circulated about the appropriation of Christian property by Muhammadans, the stubborn fact remains that Greeks and Armenians own a disproportionate part of the best business property on the prominent streets in Constantinople, and many of them have been more successful at war producing than Turks.

Hotel Rates High.

The leading hotel of Constantinople is owned by a Greek, who made a great fortune selling supplies to the German army. He has invested his money in hotels in various parts of Europe. The Constantinople hotel cost him $250,000 a year ago. In a single year the hotel has paid for itself. He charges $8 a day for a small single room without bath and the cost of meals is in proportion. The only other hotel run on European lines is owned by an Armenian, and his prices are equally high.
Turkish officials are not permitted to regulate prices. The Germans did it when they were in control of Constantinople, but the entente high commissions make little attempt to check profiteering, because such efforts only intensify the friction which exists between the various missions.

Constantinople is really a group of religious principalities, which are more political than religious, and acknowledge the authority of no government.
The Greeks are under their patriarch,
the various religious faiths of the Armenians have their patriarchs, and the Jews have a grand rabbi.

All these races hate each other nearly as much, apparently, as they do the Turks. Westerners are unable to comprehend the hatred in which the several nationalities of the Levant have stewed for centuries. Entente high commissions now have some appreciation of the task Turkish officials had in trying to administer such mixed populations.

Every nationality has to have its own churches, its own schools, orphanages and hospitals. Even small children of different nationalities cannot be put together without serious friction.

American relief workers who have been trying to assist refugees of all races, regardless of religion, find the task almost impossible. Armenians complain if Turks are fed. Greeks allege favoritism to Armenians and the relief committees of the various races and religious heads take up the walls of individuals and waste time of relief administrators in considering petty quarrels.

Pin Faith on Children.
Broadly speaking, foreign relief workers have little to say for the adults of any race in Turkey, but pin their faith to the children and urge child welfare work and education as the most hopeful fields in this land of hate. Foreign relief workers who came to Turkey expecting to find gentle Christian minorities had a rude awakening.

The Greek and Armenian bands and outlaws are just as wild as the Mohammedan bands. Relief workers have learned that "Christian" means a man who is not a Moslem. It is a political term and does not necessarily imply that the man so designated practices
the Ten Commandments.

"Gentlemen."
The Romance languages each have a word for "gentleman," but it does not express the meaning with which we invest the term. Laisseus defines "gentilhomme"—tout "homme de race noble"; any man of noble birth. The Spanish dictionary gives it "Gentil-hombre—hombre de buena familia que servia en casa de los reyes"; a man of good family, who serves in the house of kings. The Italian dictionary has it: "Gentiluomo ben nato"; a well-born man, a nobleman;
a knight. None gives the fine delicate flavor to the word that we do when we say: "He is a true gentleman." We neither ask nor care about his family; we only know that he possesses the very flower of courtesy; that he is the soul of honor. Bearing a title of nobility does not of itself make a man a gentleman as we use the word. Shakespeare's old employer was a gentleman in one sense, yet one of his remote descendants once said to me: "I never thought much of Sir Thomas Lucy. He used to go to the tavern and come home drunk and beat his wife." Furthermore a "gentilhomme" has failed to prove himself a gentleman, yet there are many French citizens of today, just as there was a host in the past, who have a right to incorporate "gentilhomme" into their charming language.

Suitable Demand.

"It's not so these days that a man can hardly get unless he can show
the girl two fingers."

"Two fingers?"
"Two fingers, or I suppose one."

WOMAN'S FISTS ROUT BANDITS

Young Hold-Ups Pick Tarter When They Tackle Mrs. Bradway.

When two young men stopped Mrs.
Lewis Bradway under the shadows of a tree at Radcliffe and Washington streets, Bristol, Pa., and tried to snatch her handbag, they picked a "tarter." Mrs. Bradway gave one of the fellows a right swing to the jaw that sent him reeling and running, and at almost the same instant kicked the feet from beneath her other assailant.
He went sprawling to the pavement,
and while he was down the woman administered several healthy kicks in the ribs. The young man finally scrambled out of the way of his viciously acting "victim" and dashed away after his companion. Mrs. Bradway then notified the police.

Brute Objects to Delay.
Haverstraw, N. Y.—"Hurry up, Sam;
we can't take all day," said Mrs.
Samuel Reed, 28 years old, admiring her 62-year-old husband as he climbed into his car. For with the ceremony ended the pair was homeward bound to Skillettown, in the mountains.
While legal arrangements for the union were under way, Mrs. Reed became impatient and urged Reed to "cut the red tape."

DEAR PETEY:

Bet you a house and let you'd stay in W-S a month if you ever got to know folks here like I have. Between business and Reynolds factories and a bully time—well, my date book has been bubbling over! And,
I'm still running into facts that would stag-ger even your imagination, old football, with all your kick!

Pete, take it straight from government figures direct to you, that every work day in the week R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.
buys from our "Uncle Sam" enough revenue stamps to pay for a duplicate of the handsome new Winston-Salem post office building!
Ever hear of such a thing?

And, if you want to get an eyefull of an army of more than 15,000 people, be down in the Reynolds factory district when the whistles blow! Never saw such a cigarette firing-up time in my life!

Peter, everytime you light a Camel in the future, call back on what I've slipped you about Camels—absolutely, the greatest cigarette at any price—for quality, for refreshing flavor, for mellow mild body, for freedom from any unpleasant cigarette after-taste—odor! It's worth the business! The world! Camels are simply a revolution! You know that.

I'll open my eyes in Atlanta tomorrow!
In the meantime here's a wad of best wishes
I have in stock!

Yours

"Only One Thing Breaks My Cold"

"That's Dr. King's New Discovery, for Fifty Years a Cold-Breaker."

TIME TRIED for fifty years and never more popular than today. Nothing but the relief it gives from stubborn old colds, and on-rushing new ones, grippe and throat-torturing coughs could have made Dr. King's New Discovery the standard remedy it is today. No tonics or drugs.

Always reliable and good for the whole family. Has a convincing healing taste with all its good medicinal qualities. At all druggists, 60 cents, $1.00 a bottle.

According to Discouraged One There Was About Nothing to Do But "Up and Die."

They were talking of the city government.

"They all work together," one man complained. "First they let the trusts put up the price of coffee and tea till a poor man can't afford to drink 'em any more. Then the milk companies get after us and put milk out of our reach. Then comes prohibition and we can't buy beer at all. Thought the limit was reached then, didn't you?"

"Sure," said the Idle Person. "They haven't thought of anything more to do, have they?"

"But haven't they, though?" bitterly replied the discouraged one. "Don't you read the papers? When there's nothing else left to drink but water, this blasted city government suddenly wakes up and raises the price of water. What chance has a poor man to live, anyhow?"

What Jamaica Ginger Will Do.

A drink of Jamaica ginger, possibly, caused Ben Folsom of Louisville, Ky., to become suddenly crazed. He fired a shot at a girl sitting opposite him at the boarding house table, and also attacked another boarder. Folsom apparently was rational when he sat down at the table, remarking: "This is a nice meal," and then the shooting started.

What is Nuxated Iron?

Physician Explains — Says Public Ought to Know What They Are Taking — Practical Advice on What to Do to Build Up Your Strength, Power and Endurance and Increase the Red Blood Corpuscles

The fact that Nuxated Iron is today being used over the entire country and that many physicians are prescribing it as a tonic, strength and blood builder in weak, nervous, rundown conditions has led to investigations of its merit by the medical profession and other medical reports should be of great importance to the public generally. Among these is the statement made by Dr. James Francis Sullivan, former physician to Dr. George Washington, at West Chester, Pa., and West Chester County Hospital, who says: "When one patient after another began asking my opinion of Nuxated Iron, I decided to go to the library and find out for myself whether or not it possessed the real value claimed by its manufacturers and attest to it by so many prominent people. This is exactly what I believe. I have no objection to it, but one should do before prescribing or lending his endorsement to any product whatsoever. If an article is worthless a practitioner ought to be the first to expose it. We are in duty bound to recommend it for the welfare of our patients. A study of the composition of the Nuxated Iron formulas so impressed me with the therapeutic efficacy of the product that I immediately tested it in a number of obstinate cases. So quickly did it increase the strength, energy and endurance of the patients to whom it was administered that I decided to make it its main advertising value as a tonic and blood builder. I have since

Orphan Girl Walks 200 Miles Looking for Work

Woodland, Cal.—Viola Neil, a thirteen-year-old orphan, arrived here three weeks ago from Portland, Ore., after traveling alone, on wagons and in automobiles of tourists, she said.

"I am going to San Francisco or Los Angeles, where I heard there was lots of work," she said.

Viola had about $2 she had earned en route. She told of starting without money.

The girl was given a home here by Miss Sarah Savage until another could be found for her. She said she had walked 200 miles of her journey.

JAPAN IMPORTS GERMAN DYES

Gets $1,000,000 Worth of Product During August, Says Report of Department of Commerce.

Washington. — Japan imported $1,000,000 worth of German dyes during August, according to reports received by the department of commerce.

Although their sale has been retarded by the business depression which has prevailed in Japan, imports continue, importing firms fulfilling contracts made before prices slumped.

The department also was informed that the Japanese government has taken steps to halt the transfer back to Japan of funds held in other countries for the purchase of imports.

As a result of a decrease in the demand for imported goods specific to the extent of $10,000,000, which had been reserved in America, was returned to Japan during July by exchange banks, the department was advised.

POULTRYKEEP POULTRY HOUSE CLEAN

Excrement Harbors Parasites, Contaminates Air and Breeds Contagion of Many Kinds.

Everything about a poultry house should be kept reasonably clean. As a rule droppings should be removed daily, for the accumulation of excrement harbors parasites, contaminates the air, and breeds contagion. After the dropping boards have been cleaned they should be sprinkled with road dust, coal ashes, or lime plaster, to absorb the liquid excrement, the poultry division of the United States department of agriculture suggests. Nests in which straw or other similar material is used should be cleaned every three or four weeks, or oftener if it becomes damp or dirty.

The quarters should be thoroughly whitewashed at least once a year, late in summer or early in the fall. The whitewash can be made by slaking lime in boiling water and then thinning to the proper consistency for applying. The addition of four ounces of carbolic acid to each gallon of whitewash will increase its disinfecting power. The runs should be plowed occasionally in order to bury the accumulated droppings and also to turn up fresh soil.

KILL DEVITALIZING INSECTS

Paint Roosts With Kerosene Oil to Get Rid of Mites—Use Blue Ointment for Lice.

The protection from mites means simply to paint the roosts about once each week with kerosene oil and the lice can be killed off for the summer by giving each bird the blue ointment treatment at the beginning of hot weather. This has been told many times by poultrymen and probably there is no poultry fact that needs more frequent repetition than the best method of killing these devitalizing pests.

CULLING POOR LAYERS

Cull all hens that show:

1. Well along in molt with comb and wattles dried up.
2. All that have lay bones less than two fingers apart and small capacity.
3. Abdomen and vent dry and pucker.
4. Yellow shank and beak.
5. Apply all the test; don't apply just a part of it—do it right.

DRY MASH FEED FOR CHICKS

Animal Food in Some Form, Preferably Buttermilk Should Be Kept Before Fowls.

A dry mash feed should be kept before the chicks continuously—a mash feed containing animal protein in some form, preferably buttermilk, meat scraps or fish scraps. These elements of animal protein in prepared mash feeds are scientifically dried and do not easily decompose.

GET EGGS FROM TURKEY HENS

Increased Production Can Be Obtained by Feeding Ground Oats, Corn and Other Cereals.

Increase of egg production in turkey hens can be done the same as with chickens, by feeding ground oats, ground corn, kafir meal, barley meal, wheat middlings, linseed meal, and sunflower seed, in equal quantities. This can be fed dry in hoppers, or mixed with milk or water.

mite is enemy of chicken

Insect Does Not Bother Other Fowls to Any Extent—Carried About in Empty Crates.

Chicken mites do not feed to any great extent upon other fowls when chickens are at hand. They are carried about chiefly by the interchange of poultry and in crates and boxes in which fowls are shipped.

Horsepower.

The nominal horsepower of an engine is determined by an approximate formula of which that of the National automobile chamber of commerce is the most common. According to this the horsepower is equal to the square of the diameter of the cylinder times the number of cylinders divided by two and one-half.

SOLVE BAY WINDOW PROBLEM

Curtains and Decorations Which Will Add to Attractiveness of the Space.

In almost every home there are bay windows that perplex the home decorator. There is the round bay window, for example, which requires something more than gauze curtains, and yet, because of the closeness of the windows, will not stand elaborate overhangings. Have two curved rods fitted around the top of the sashes, one for the gauze curtains, the outer for the heavier hanging. On the inner one hang net or fine muslin curtains, being careful not to have fullness enough to produce a bulging effect. A narrow width of overdrapery, connected by a straight gathered or pleated valance, should hang at each end, stopping at the sun. A window seat may be upholstered in the overdrapery material.

Square bays are more difficult. Unless the projecting space is large enough to admit heavy hangings gracefully, they should not be attempted at the individual window. A better plan is to frame the opening of the bay with a single pair of side draperies connected by a valance, just as though it were a wide door opening. A group window may often be similarly treated—Good Housekeeping.

That Dodge Didn't Work.

His wife was one too many for Mr. Hobbs, but nevertheless, he persevered in his efforts to get an occasional night at the club.

"My dear," he remarked the other day, "I have only just realized how imperfect I am in my knowledge. His wife agreed.

"No man," continued Mr. Hobbs, "ought to assume that his education is finished. As for myself, I am going to forge ahead and take up the study of astronomy."

The look in his wife's eyes became more eagle-like than ever. Her voice assumed a cold, hard tone. Her back stiffened.

"Benjamin," she announced, "you must try again. That excuse for staying out late at night won't do!"

The Kids Know.

"There's no use talking, the children pick up the language very quickly."

"What's the matter now?"

"My eight-year-old son told me the other day that I was hard boiled."

WINTER CLOTHES FOR TOTS

Velveteen and Broadcloth, Plainly Made, Promise to Be Among Popular Fabrics.

Velveteen is to play an important part in the development of next winter dresses for little girls. These are always made on very straight, simple lines. The majority of those seen so far are finished with plain satin or Roman striped ribbon sashes.

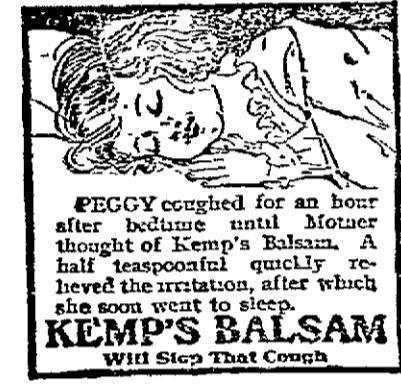

For children of six years or younger very fine broadcloth appears to be the favorite coat fabric for the coming season. Some of the garments brought out have interlining, for greater warmth, but the weight of the coat required depends entirely on the climate. Plushes and imitation furs serve as very effective trimmings on many little coats. The mother who tackles the job of making her little daughter's winter wrap may make a muff and bonnet to match.

Folly of Selfishness. To be selfish is to be ignoble—to repose on a lower platform for lower gain, when you might choose a higher. To be selfish is to sacrifice the nobler for the meaner ends, and to be sorely content.—H. R. Llaveis.

A Nursery King. "Old King Cole," beloved of the nursery, was a British king who lived about A. D. 200. His accession was hailed with joy. To this day a large earthwork at Colchester is called "King Cole's Kitchen."

Walls No Bar to Wireless. The antennae of the wireless station in the cathedral of Florence, Italy, are entirely within the building, yet work satisfactorily, though the wireless waves pass through several thick walls.

LATE FASHION NOTES

The top hat of the season is a dinner dress of dark chiffon combined with fur. A pointed collar and a fur band are joined together with a fur band, and the dress is alluring in color.

Simple is the name of a blue serge street frock designed upon the lines of the Russian blouse. In addition to the straight lines of the shirt and blouse, the long, tight fitting sleeves further emphasized the effect of extreme simplicity.

A great dress of dark blue chiffon had a belt entirely covered with white braids and a standing collar with flaring tapes which show out when the neck is worn free.

Paris promises that we shall witness the popularity of the ostrich plume. Plumes are to be used very extensively for trimming and often together with fur.

A combination much favored for sidewalk wear is heavy linen and English satin.

Gold Czech-Slovakian embroidery and a rolling tucked collar distinguish a smart dark serge cape. The embroidery is done in white and is centered by a silver ribbon a half inch in width.

Quite the latest innovation in gloves has recently come from abroad. It is a black velvet gauntlet on a white glove. Then, too, white bracelets on black gloves are very good.

Bouffant and wired effects are still much favored for evening wear. This style promises to gain in favor, since Paris is sponsoring stiff brocades and metal fabrics.

Nursery in a Silk Plant.

The Stetil Silk company of Lancaster, Pa., has established a nursery in its plant where a score of children, some mere tots, are cared for while their mothers earn their daily wage at the looms in the huge plant. The nursery is in charge of a woman skilled in the care of children. The youngsters are permitted to play during the morning, and in the afternoon are bathed and put to bed. After awakening they are dressed in fresh clothing.

Take Cow on Auto Trailers.

Carrying a cow on a trailer on an automobile trip may seem strange to many, but a Utah family now touring Nevada will attest to the fact that a bossy is mighty good company. The travelers are making a real event of their tour. The cow is unloaded at the various camping grounds, turned out to grass and then milked.

Some One He Knew.

Little two-and-a-half-year-old Bud accompanied his parents for the first time to a movie. He seemed very interested, especially when a horse or a "beel" was flashed on the screen, but a cry of delight came when a colored man appeared. "Milver, dere's our ice man," he said. He was glad to see a face he thought he knew.

He was glad to see a face he thought he knew.

Take Cow on Auto Trailers.

Carrying a cow on a trailer on an automobile trip may seem strange to many, but a Utah family now touring Nevada will attest to the fact that a bossy is mighty good company. The travelers are making a real event of their tour. The cow is unloaded at the various camping grounds, turned out to grass and then milked.

Some One He Knew.

Little two-and-a-half-year-old Bud accompanied his parents for the first time to a movie. He seemed very interested, especially when a horse or a "beel" was flashed on the screen, but a cry of delight came when a colored man appeared. "Milver, dere's our ice man," he said. He was glad to see a face he thought he knew.
